PROPOSAL TO INCLUDE THE SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC LIFE IN THE EMPLOYEE CODE OF CONDUCT

Report from: Carrie McKenzie, Assistant Director - Transformation

Author: Samantha Beck-Farley, Head of HR

Summary:

Following an Internal audit report on ethics we propose to include The Seven Principles of Public Life into the current Employee Code of Conduct policy. This will align the Employee Code of Conduct to the Member Code of Conduct. The policy has also been brought up to date with some minor changes.

1. Budget and Policy Framework

- 1.1 This report covers a proposal to expand, and include fuller descriptions on the Seven Principles of Public Life within Medway Council's Employee Code of Conduct. Some minor amendments to the Policy are also proposed to ensure it is up to date. Any changes to the Employee Code of Conduct are a matter for Full Council as the Code forms part of the Constitution.

2. Background

- 2.1 The Committee on Standards in Public Life advises the Prime Minister, national and local government and the public on trends, issues and concerns about standards in public life and is responsible for promoting the 7 principles of public life (the Nolan Principles). These Principles apply to anyone who works as a public office-holder. This includes people who are elected or appointed to public office, nationally and locally, and all people appointed to work in:

- the civil service
- local government
- the police
- the courts and probation services
- non-departmental public bodies
- health, education, social and care services

- 2.2 The Principles also apply to all those in other sectors that deliver public services. They were first set out by Lord Nolan in 1995 and they are included in the Ministerial code and also the Member Code of Conduct.
- 2.3 Medway Council appreciates the hard work and commitment to the provision of public services of all its employees and will continue to promote a positive working environment in which employees are both supported and developed.
- 2.4 Essential to creating a positive and constructive working environment is a mutual understanding of the standards of behaviour that are acceptable to each other and the public for whom we provide services. These standards can be found in the Employee Code of Conduct.
- 2.5 An Internal Audit Report on ethics recommended that the Nolan Seven Principles of Public Life descriptions be included in the Medway Council Employee Code of Conduct.
- 2.6 When the Member Code of Conduct was last reviewed a decision was taken to include the Seven Principles of Public Life. These are set out in a preamble to the Member Code of Conduct and Members are expected to have regard to them.

3. Proposal

3.1 To update the current Employee Code of Conduct to include The Seven Principles of Public Life.

3.2 The Seven Principles of Public Life

The Seven Principles of Public Life
Selflessness	Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest.
Integrity	Holders of public office must avoid placing themselves under any obligation to people or organisations that might try inappropriately to influence them in their work. They should not act or take decisions in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends. They must declare and resolve any interests and relationships.
Objectivity	Holders of public office must act and take decisions impartially, fairly and on merit, using the best evidence and without discrimination or bias.
Accountability	Holders of public office are accountable to the public for their decisions and actions and must submit themselves to the scrutiny necessary to ensure this.
Openness	Holders of public office should act and take decisions in an open and transparent manner. Information should not be withheld from the public unless there is clear and lawful reasons for doing so.

Honesty	Holders of public office should be truthful.
Leadership	Holders of public office should exhibit these principles in their own behaviour. They should actively promote and robustly support the principles and be willing to challenge poor behaviour wherever it occurs.

4. Advice and analysis

- 4.1 The Council's Employee Code of Conduct forms part of Medway's Council's Constitution and as such any changes to it are a matter for Full Council.
- 4.2 All Council employees have an opportunity to read the Code upon appointment through induction when joining Medway Council.
- 4.3 Whilst the 7 principles do not form part of the Code, we recommend it is included as a preamble to the Code and employees are asked to have due regard for them, which will help them apply the Code.

5. Financial and legal implications

- 5.1 There are no finance or legal implications.

6. Risk Management

- 6.1 There are no risk implications arising from this report. All decisions are made in accordance with the Council's procedures for reviewing policies.

7. Recommendation

- 7.1 That the Committee recommends to Full Council that the Employee Code of Conduct is amended as set out in appendix 1, including adding the Seven Principles of Public Life as detailed at Paragraph 3.2 above.
