As a growing economic powerhouse, Chatham is an exciting place to work. As you'd expect from a town with heritage attractions of national importance, tourism is a key industry. You'll also find opportunities with thriving firms in many other sectors, from the cultural and creative through to engineering, technology and manufacturing. If you're keen to take your career to the next level, you've an excellent chance of taking your next step very close to home.

LDN IN 40 MINUTES BY TRAIN

As well as being part of an economic powerhouse, Chatham is an ideal place to live if you commute to London or even to Europe. You can reach London St Pancras by train in under 40 minutes. You'll be near the M2/A2 and can reach the M25 in less than half an hour.

A VIBRANT SOCIAL SCENE RIGHT ON YOUR DOORSTEP.

Chatham is a great place to socialise, with lots of great coffee shops, pubs and bars. From the Nucleus Arts Centre's café with its Mediterranean-themed garden courtyard, through to Ship & Trades, a contemporary bar, restaurant and hotel overlooking a yacht basin, you'll soon find welcoming venues that will become firm favourites.

You'll also be spoilt for choice when it comes to dining out, with restaurants offering everything from continental cuisine to Turkish or Nepalese menus. If you visit The Broadwick, you'll be able to enjoy traditional and modern flavours while savouring the eclectic mix of art that's on display. And talking of culture, don't forget to check out The Central and Brook Theatres for a great selection of theatre, music and comedy.

Love to get fit and enjoy the outdoors? You'll have lots of opportunities, right on your doorstep. From taking a run in one of Chatham's beautiful parks, through to enjoying kayaking, windsurfing, sailing and paddle-boarding at the Chatham Maritime Watersports Centre, there's lots to choose from. If you feel like trying something a bit different, jet-skiing and even scuba diving are also popular activities.

THE CHATHAM REGENERATION

Delivering an ambitious regeneration programme for Chatham. Medway Council is backing the development of many new, high-quality homes, helping to boost economic growth and revitalise the town. Significant investment is also being made to revitalise the area with new public realm areas and enhancements to The Brook Theatre.

Regeneration in Chatham is particularly successful because the town already has so many positive assets. From star attractions like the Historic Dockyard and its many buildings of architectural importance, right through to first-class shopping centres, entertainment and arts venues and a bustling high street. The regeneration is enhancing an already successful town by creating new places where people want to live, work and prosper.

In addition, multi-million-pound investment is rapidly improving the area for visitors, businesses and local people alike. As a result, Chatham is becoming a popular place to set up a new enterprise or build a career. Indeed, the Medway Towns currently support some 14,000 businesses and have a combined economy of £5.2 billion.
